¹ A complete Hib series is two doses plus a booster dose on or after 12 months of age (three doses total). If a child receives the first dose of Hib vaccine at 12 - 14 months of age, only one additional dose is required (two doses total). Any child who has received a single dose of Hib vaccine on or after 15 - 59 months of age is in compliance with these specified vaccine requirements. Children 60 months of age and older are not required to receive Hib vaccine.

² If the PCV series is started when a child is seven months of age or older or the child is delinquent in the series, then all four doses may not be required. Please reference the information below to assist with compliance:

- For children seven through 11 months of age, two doses are required.
- For children 12 23 months of age: if three doses have been received prior to 12 months of age, then an additional dose is required (total of four doses) on or after 12 months of age. If one or two doses were received prior to 12 months of age, then a total of three doses are required with at least one dose on or after 12 months of age. If zero doses have been received, then two doses are required with both doses on or after 12 months of age.
- Children 24 months through 59 months meet the requirement if they have at least three doses with one dose on or after 12 months of age, or two doses with both doses on or after 12 months of age, or one dose on or after 24 months of age. Otherwise, one additional dose is required. Children 60 months of age and older are not required to receive PCV vaccine.

³For MMR, Varicella, and Hepatitis A vaccines, the first dose must be given on or after the first birthday. Vaccine doses administered within 4 days before the first birthday will satisfy the requirement.

Information on exclusions from immunization requirements, provisional enrollment, and acceptable documentation of immunizations may be found in $97.62, $97.66, and $97.68 of the Texas Administrative Code, respectively.

Influenza (Flu) Fact Sheet for Child-Care Settings

What is the flu?

Influenza (flu) is a contagious respiratory illness caused by influenza viruses. The viruses attack the nose, throat, and lungs. Flu can be prevented by vaccination. Influenza is not to be confused with "stomach flu," an inflammation of the stomach and intestines which is not caused by influenza viruses.

What are the symptoms of the flu in children?

Some children may experience the following symptoms: fever, runny or stuffy nose, cough, sore throat, headache, ear infection, tiredness, gastrointestinal symptoms, conjunctivitis (red, inflamed eyes), pneumonia, and sinusitis.

How is the flu spread?

The flu is spread when an infected person who has the flu coughs or sneezes and sends the flu virus into the air near a person without the flu. Flu can also spread when a person touches the surface of an object that has flu viruses on it and then touches his or her own nose or mouth. Most healthy adults may be able to infect others one day before symptoms develop and up to 5-7 days after becoming sick. Children can infect others for 10 or more days after the start of their symptoms.

How serious is the flu?

Anyone can get the flu, even healthy people. Serious problems related to the flu can happen at any age, but some people are at high risk of developing serious flu-related complications if they get sick. This includes adults 65 years and older, anyone with a chronic medical condition (such as asthma, diabetes, or heart disease), pregnant women, and young children.

The flu is more dangerous than the common cold for children. Each year, millions of children get sick with seasonal influenza; thousands of children are hospitalized and some children die from flu. Children younger than 5 years and especially those younger than 2 years are at high risk of serious influenza complications. Flu vaccination reduces the risk of flu-associated death by nearly two-thirds among healthy children.

How can the flu be prevented?

The single best way to prevent the flu is to get a flu vaccination each year. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends getting vaccinated as soon as this year's seasonal influenza vaccine is available. It's best to get vaccinated early- to mid-fall, as it takes approximately two weeks after receiving the vaccine for the body to build up protection against the flu. Getting vaccinated in December or even later can still be beneficial, though. Influenza activity typically occurs all year long, but usually peaks in Texas in late January to mid-february.

Other measures to prevent the flu at child-care facilities include:

- Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
- Stay home from work or school when sick until fever-free for 24 hours without the use of fever-reducing medications.
- Cover your mouth and nose with a disposable tissue or your sleeve when you cough or sneeze.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water. If you are not near water, use an alcohol-based hand cleaner
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth to reduce the spread of germs.
